

Animal Care Architecture & Design

quorum

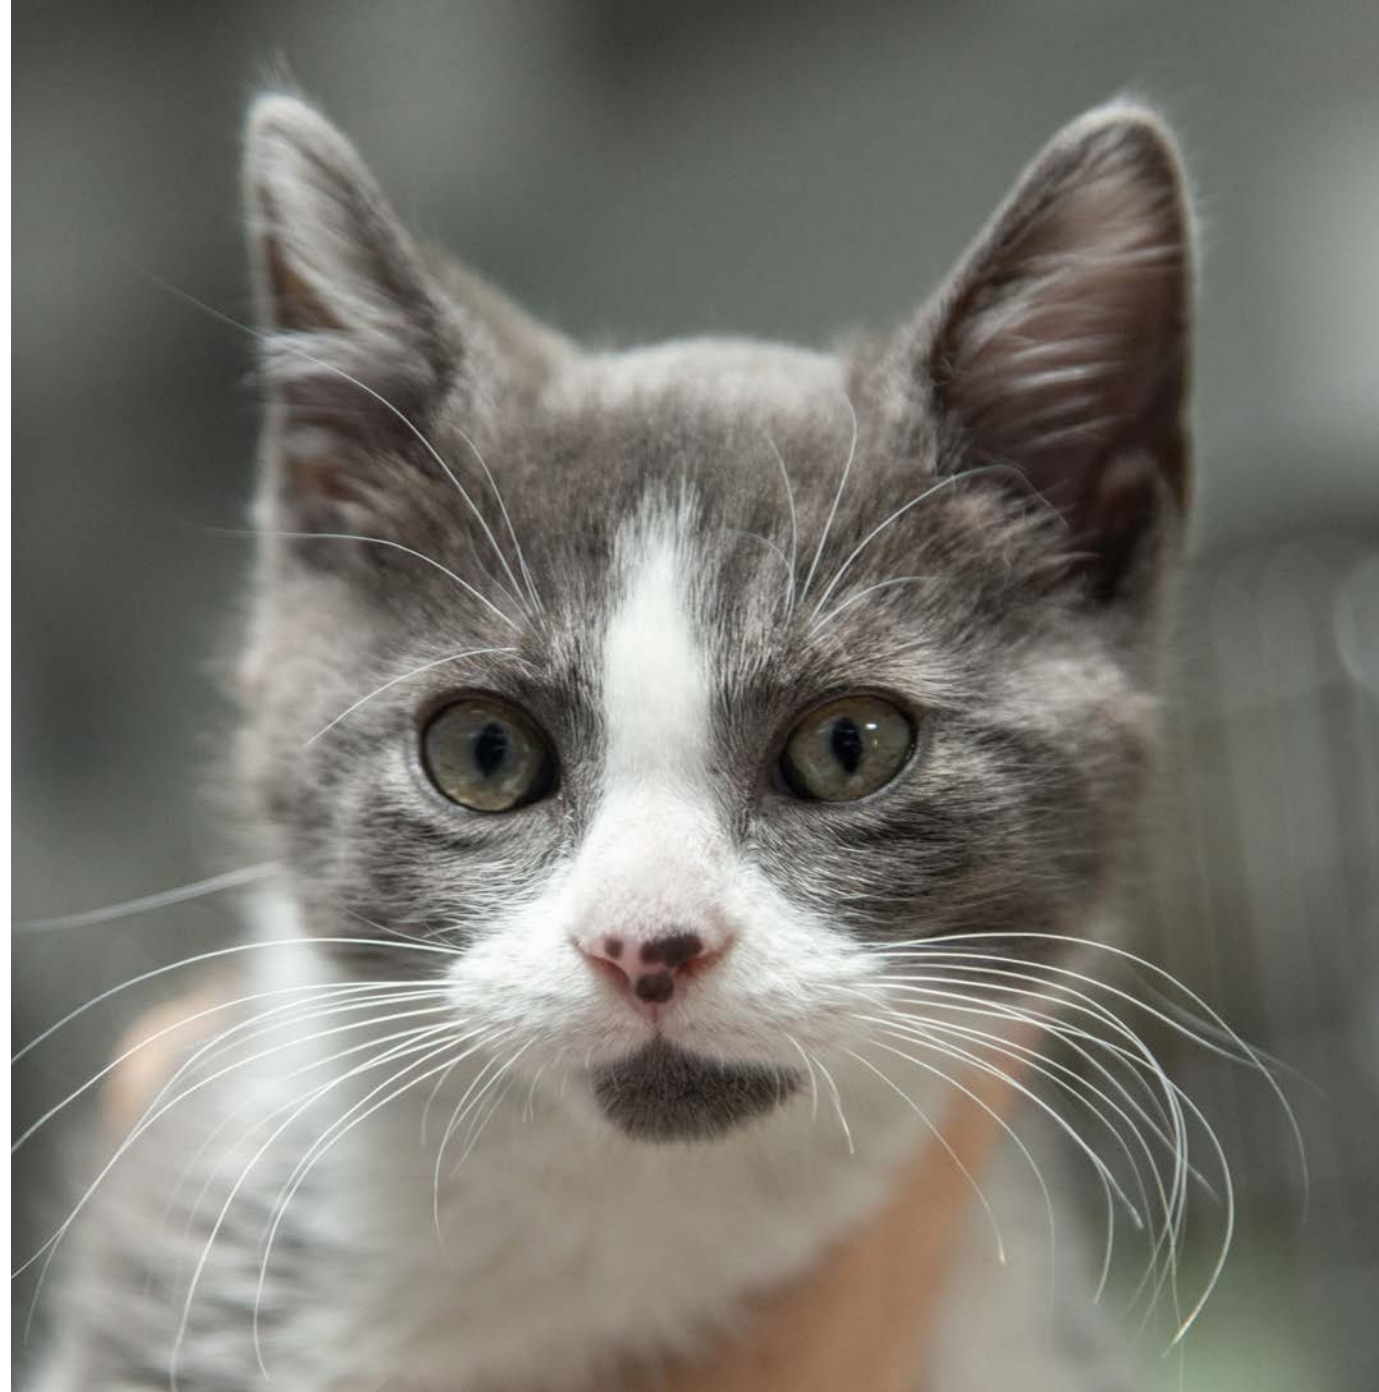

Through listening, design speaks.

Each of our animal care facilities are custom designed to the specific desires and operational needs of the client. We understand that there are many ways to achieve success in these facilities, and although we offer advice and opinions, the final design and building is a result of listening to our clients and delivering a solution that works for years to come.

We believe in giving back to each of the communities in which we serve. With every project, we practice sustainable design so that all of our buildings and structures have a positive impact on the environment.

We're passionate about improving lives and communities through thoughtful design.

"When we first started working with Quorum, they thoroughly explained the components of shelter design and how they work. They worked patiently with stakeholders on the kennel options and requested color schemes changes. They were very approachable, answering questions and responding quickly. I enjoy working with Quorum's animal design team and appreciate their knowledge of modern animal shelters."

- Jerry Paul Harvell, City of Odessa

"Besides being talented and conscientious architects, David Duman and Kim Dowdy-Hickman allowed me to sleep better at night, knowing that they were managing the construction details while trying to keep the project on schedule and within budget. They relentlessly had our backs throughout the entire process and with the communications between our selected contractors. If you're asking me, I would say, hire Quorum"

- Dustin Deel, City of Weatherford

"The shelter design created by Quorum was innovative, modern, and unique. Their dedication to the project in its entirety has been invaluable. Quorum has proven itself to be the industry leader in animal shelter architecture. Our experience with Quorum raised the bar far beyond my expectations."

- John Fischer, City of Pearland

"Working with Quorum on this project for the City of Grapevine was as close to ideal as a project can get. The entire team worked together perfectly and created a positive experience for all parties. The Quorum team was extremely responsive and creative when presented with challenges. Even though the client's budget was limited, they didn't have to sacrifice anything. We're actively seeking more opportunities to work with Quorum."
